Betit Elected as Veritas Editor

Eugene D. Betit, Editor-in-Chief, has announced the new staff of next year's Veritas. The Staff, all members of the class of 1966, include: David Prior, copy editor; Robert McDonald, sports editor; Norbert McLoughlin, photography editor; Anthony Gaetano, layout editor; Martin Tristone, business manager; and Ralph Matterna, advertising manager.

Betit is a Humanities major from Kalamazoo, Michigan. He graduated from Frankfurt American Senior High School, Frankfurt, Germany, where his father was stationed in the service. A member of the drill team in his first year at PC and of Pershing Rifles in his first two, he is presently in Special Forces. The new Editor-in-Chief has been assistant editor of the Veritas, vice president of the Camera Club, and treasurer of the Arts & Letters Society. Betit also served on the Cowl for two years.

David Prior from Jamestown, R. I., and a graduate of De La Salle Academy, is a Humanities major in the Arts Honors Program. He is now serving as president of the Lacordaire Debating Society, and vice president of the Newport Club. He was a Student Congress representative in the first two years at PC, and has also been a member of the Spectrum Club.

Robert McDonald from Meriden, Connecticut, and a graduate of the Francis T. Maloney High School, is also a Humanities major. He was a member of the Sophomore Weekend ticket committee, and has served on the Carolan Club both in the history of the school committee and in intramural sports.

Blender Announces Members Of Next Year's COWL Staff

Cowl editor-in-chief Matt Blender today announced the appointments of eight members of the Cowl to positions on the editorial staff for the 1965-66 academic year.

Peter Ulisse, a junior from New Britain, Connecticut, has been named executive editor. He was a previous co-copy editor, and joined the paper as a freshman. An English major, Pete plans to do graduate work leading to a doctorate degree in this field.

Peter Driscoll and Bob Nejaiko will serve as managing editors. Driscoll, a junior English major from Staten Island, N. Y., joined the news staff during his sophomore year. Nejaiko, also a junior majoring in English, resides in Meriden, Conn., and joined the staff during his sophomore year.

Vincent Marottoli of New Haven, Conn., will assume the sports editor's position. He is a French major but hopes to do graduate work in English.

Thomas Benoit and Chris Smith are the new co-copy editors. Benoit, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., is a member of the education-English department. (Continued on Page 7)

Senator Dodd to Lecture On South Vietnam Tonight

Senator Thomas J. Dodd, who has recently returned from Vietnam on an inspection tour, will discuss "The War in Viet Nam" this evening at 8 p.m. in Alumni Hall.

The senior senator from Connecticut will explain American commitments in Viet Nam.

Senator Dodd's talk is the fourth and last presentation sponsored by the Student Congress Lecture Series.

A 1930 graduate of P.C., Senator Dodd was first sent to Washington as a member of the House of Representatives in 1952 and has served in the Senate since 1956.

A 1933 graduate of Yale University Law School, Senator Dodd joined the Department of Justice in 1935 and held this post until 1945. He helped establish and was assistant chief of the Department's first Civil Rights Section.

Senator Dodd became a national figure when he served as Executive Trial Counsel for the United States at the Nuremberg War Crimes Trials.

After the war, he practiced law in Hartford until his election to Congress.

Senator Dodd is presently a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Aeronautical and Space Sciences and is also chairman of the Juvenile Delinquent Subcommittee and vice chairman of the Internal Security Subcommittee of the Judiciary Committee.

Senator Dodd is married to the former Grace Murphy of Westerly, Rhode Island. They have six children.

Votes to Decide Class Gift

Jack Cullinan, president of the Class of 1966, has announced three plans for the future class gift. These include cash, stock, and insurance. The class will vote in September by ballot for their preference. On September 25, a senior picnic will be held at Bell's Farm, followed by a mixer at the Rocky Point Palladium.

An October 2 concert, sponsored in conjunction with the Student Congress, will feature a senior date affair, giving the effect of an entire weekend at the expense of a single day. The class voted yesterday for three possible talents out of a list of fifteen considered. An informal speaker series on a "smoker" basis is also being planned. Prominent athletes will deliver the talks. On October 15, an off-campus mixer will also be held.

In addition to next year's officers, Chuck Dauray has been appointed co-chairman of the class gift committee, and Bill Smith, the class agent. Jack Lynch has been named representative-at-large among the day students. Ed Nowak and Pat Shanley will be the social chairmen, and Brian Kelly and Billy Eddy will co-sponsor the speaking program. Representing senior class affairs with the concert will be Art Brewer, class secretary.

John Minnicucci, president of the class of 1967, has announced that on every second Tuesday, class meetings will be held at 1:50. Work will start this summer for the formulation of their senior class gift. Michael Kenney, vice-president, together with at least one representative from each concentration, will compose the committee.

On September 25, a picnic will be held at Lincoln Woods.

Several girls' colleges will be invited, and a mixer that evening will round off the affair. Two more mixers, on October 8 and October 29, are also being planned.

The Junior Ring Dance of the class of 1967 is scheduled for early November. The class will also co-sponsor a concert with the class of 1968 on December 4, with a dance following which will be open to all. These classes will also co-sponsor a Winter Weekend, highlighting a Valentine's Day theme on February 11, 12, and 13.

A semi-formal dance, with a buffet preceding in Raymond Hall, will be held on Friday, February 11. A concert will follow on Saturday evening with a Communion breakfast Sunday morning. Junior Weekend will be presented on May 6, 7 and

8. Another event to be announced at a later date will be held between the Winter Weekend and Junior Weekend.

Besides the two concerts being held in conjunction with the class of 1967, James Armstrong, president of the class of 1968, has announced other activities for the forthcoming year. Plans are in the making for a class picnic, to be held the first weekend of the '65-'66 academic year.

A class mixer is scheduled in early October. On an experimental basis, a representative body will be formed to investigate any suggestions made by the class. James Armstrong had the following statement to give: "As in the past, I have supported the formation of the Dillon Club, and will continue to do so as long as I am in office." In order to make the upcoming class plans fairly definite, the officers of the class will meet during the summer to iron out any unforeseeable difficulties that may arise.

Library Notice

David A. Jonah, Brown University Librarian, has requested that during the Brown reading and examination period, from May 19 to June 1, PC students use the Brown library only for consulting reference material not available elsewhere.

Each student who needs to make use of the library should present a letter from Fr. Hogan introducing the student and explaining his need. This letter should be presented to the Chief Circulation Librarian or to the Chief Reference Librarian.

Cadet McMullan receives award. Story on Page 7

Editorially Speaking

Step Forward . . .

The appointment of Dr. Paul van K. Thomson as vice-president of academic affairs must be considered as a step forward in the academic growth of Providence College.

As a member of the faculty since 1949, Dr. Thomson has exhibited the highest degree of academic excellence, especially in his work as Director of the Liberal Arts Honors Program.

Dr. Thomson's appointment, as the first layman to be named a vice-president at Providence College, reflects the increased number of laymen on the faculty; and his new position will contribute to the communication between the lay and priest faculty. The new vice-president is assuredly an asset to the climate at Providence College.

Coalition . . .

The first meeting of the Providence College Political Union was held last night and it appears that the students and faculty have made a step forward on this campus. The Union, intended to act as the "umbrella organization" for several "caucuses" of various political philosophies, is obviously a worthy undertaking. It is modeled after the well-known Yale Political Union and, as such, will be unable to endorse, support, or further the ambitions of any single political candidate or party. The Union is simply a forum, where orderly debate concerning all political ideologies may be heard and expressed. However, this does not exempt the caucuses from involving themselves in political activity off-campus. It should be noted that anyone may join the Union, even if he does not ally himself with a caucus. It is our firm belief that the Political Union should and, indeed, must be supported by all at Providence College.

Dorm Dilemma . . .

The weather of spring in the air, students eagerly rushing in circles, and a general "buzzing" sound evident everywhere—this was the situation Monday afternoon in Stephen's Lounge as once more it was time to make the annual room selections.

As usual the afternoon expired right on schedule with students receiving their respective rooms in the time allotted. All seemed okay as neighbor met neighbor and plans were already being formed for next year's activities. Yet, behind all these smiles and in spite of the efficiency this system has shown both this year and in past years, there were two serious defects.

First of all, incoming student prefects for the next school year were announced only "minutes" before 3:00 (the time at which room selections were to begin), causing mass confusion among many of the students.

To illustrate by example, Student A has just been informed that he is to be a prefect next year. Students B and C, his roommates and who have to fill in their selections in 15 minutes, are shocked by the sudden news. Suddenly they are without a roommate and are now faced with the real possibility of spending their senior year with someone they do not even know or even dislike.

A second defect lies in the haste in putting the selection list together. Instead of waiting a week or two and using this year's receipts, last year's were used. As a result many students intending to live off-campus or otherwise next year were indiscriminately thrown on the list, adding many names to an already large list.

If the administrators had waited a little longer and if prefects were told a little earlier of their new positions the situation might have been somewhat improved.

Around the Campi

Schenectady, N. Y.—Union College students have turned down an honor plan to govern undergraduate conduct on examinations and in other areas. An opinion poll on the question, conducted by the Student Council, produced a vote of 467 to 358 against such a plan. The referendum was part of a larger investigation which included study of honor plans at several other colleges.

Commenting on the results of the poll, Theodore D. Lockwood, dean of the faculty and provost of the college, said: "I am not especially surprised at the outcome of the poll. On the other hand, the results do not alter the concern of the administration about the increasing pressures of academic life at colleges like ours, especially those pressures which may be manifested in lapses of academic honesty."

Lewiston, Me.—Over one third of the students applying for admission to Bates College next fall have indicated preference for the new, longer college-year program, which allows them to graduate in three years. Nearly two-thirds prefer the traditional four-year plan.

"Last summer," said Dean of Admissions Milton L. Lindholm recently, "when Bates announced its new '4/3 Option,' the college officers had little idea how many students would select the new three-year program, which requires ten months of the student's time each year, instead of the traditional eight months of the four-year plan."

"Now that applications for next fall's class have closed, we know that there is widespread interest in the three-year program. In fact, well over one third of all those applying have stated their preference for the extended year."

Among the reasons given by students who prefer the three-year plan are the saving of a full year as compared with the older four-year schedule and a reduction in the cost of a college education since tuition is paid for three years instead of four.

Dean Lindholm also reports that applications for admission have increased twenty per cent as compared with last year. "Applicants for next fall's freshman class," he said, "have run far ahead of last year through the mid-February cut-off date. A year ago, we received 1424 applications for the 262 places in the Class of 1968. Currently, over 1,700 applications are being carefully screened to select the Class of 1969, which will consist of 250 to 275 freshmen."

Next fall's freshmen will be the first Bates students to enroll under "The 4/3 Option." At mid-year registration next November, the freshmen will elect either the four or three-year college program. Both programs involve essentially the same curriculum and the same amount of college work.

MEMO— FROM THE EDITOR

With this issue a new staff takes control of The Cowl. We assume our new jobs with anticipation, trepidation, yes, maybe even fear. The job of publishing The Cowl is not an easy one by any means and, contrary to the opinion of some people, it is an important job, for The Cowl is not merely an extracurricular activity, it is not just a club. It is the official weekly student publication and as such, it should inform the student, possibly educate him, reflect student opinion insofar as that opinion has some validity. The paper should praise the praiseworthy, criticize that which is worthy of criticism. There are times when we ourselves will be criticized for the opinions we express. We hope, however, that we can substantiate what we say, for if we cannot, we have no right to say it.

But publishing a worthwhile newspaper takes more than a newspaper staff. It requires cooperation from all the members of the College community, administration, faculty, student body. It is from the members of the College community that we receive our information for news, sports, editorial material and with the small staff we have it is impossible to gather all the information that should be printed in The Cowl. In a reader evaluation poll that was taken several months ago The Cowl was criticized by many people for not covering all the news and after considering those stories that we didn't cover I can only conclude that often it was a case of our not knowing about the story because those who would have liked coverage neglected to tell us. This is not to say that we were totally blameless, but I do say that producing a good newspaper requires close cooperation between the newspaper itself and its readers. The Cowl is a college newspaper and as such, most of what is printed in it closely concerns the majority of those who read it and those who read it, at least within the College should endeavor to concern themselves with the production of the paper.

With these thoughts in mind we who work to put this paper together for your benefit hope that in the 1965-66 academic year we can serve you and inform you and do our part in making PC better for us all.

The Presidents of the Freshman and Sophomore classes will introduce a bill at the next Student Congress meeting stating the intention of the Sophomore class to run the PC Folk Festival. In this bill is a section which bars any group from sponsoring events "such as festivals, reviews of any type, concerts, comical shows or any other events of this nature" from September to January, unless the event is sponsored by the SC, co-sponsored with the Congress, or run by the Dillon or Carolan Clubs. In short, this bill means that many groups will be denied valuable revenue and the students will be denied a full social calendar.

I urge all students to protest this bill at the SC meeting on Monday night.

TESTS, AND HOW THEY GREW

Just the other night I was saying to the little woman, "Do you think the importance of tests in American colleges is being overemphasized?" (Incidentally, the little woman is not, as you might think, my wife. My wife is far from a little woman. She is, in fact, nearly seven feet high and mantled with rippling muscles. She is a full-blooded Ogallala Sioux and holds the world's shot put record. The little woman I referred to is someone we found crouching under the sofa when we moved into our apartment back in 1928, and there she has remained ever since. She never speaks except to make a kind of guttural clicking sound when she is hungry. To tell you the truth, she's not too much fun to have around the house, but with my wife away at track meets most of the time, at least it gives me someone to talk to.)

But I digress. "Do you think the importance of tests in American colleges is being overemphasized?" I said the other night to the little woman, and then I said, "Yes, Max, I do think the importance of tests in American colleges is being overemphasized." (As I explained, the little woman does not speak, so when we have conversations, I am forced to do both parts.)

But I digress. To get back to tests—sure, they're important, but let's not allow them to get too important. There are, after all, many talents which simply can't be measured by quizzes. Is it right to penalize a gifted student whose gifts don't happen to fall into an academic category? Like, for instance, Finster Sigafoos?

She is a full-blooded Ogallala Sioux...

Finster, a freshman at the Wyoming College of Belles Lettres and Fingerprint Identification, has never passed a single test; yet all who know him agree he is studded with talent like a ham with cloves. He can, for example, sleep standing up. He can do a perfect imitation of a scarlet tanager. (I don't mean just the bird calls; I mean he can fly south in the winter.) He can pick up BB's with his toes. He can say "toy boat" three times fast. He can build a rude telephone out of 100 yards of string and two empty Personna Stainless Steel Razor Blade packages. (This last accomplishment is the one Finster is proudest of—not building the telephone but emptying the Personna packs. To empty a Personna pack is not easily accomplished, believe you me, not if you're a person who likes to get full value out of his razor blades. And full value is just what Personnas deliver. They last and last and keep on lasting; luxury shave follows luxury shave in numbers that make the mind boggle. Why don't you see for yourself? Personnas are now available in two varieties: a brand-new stainless steel injector blade for users of injector razors—and the familiar double-edge stainless steel blade so dear to the hearts and kind to the kissers of so many happy Americans, blades so smooth-shaving, so long-lasting that the Personna Co. makes the following guarantee: If you don't agree Personna gives you more luxury shaves than Beep-Beep or any other brand you might name, Personna will buy you a pack of whatever kind you think is better.)

But I digress. Back to Finster Sigafoos—artist, humanist, philosopher, and freshman since 1939. Will the world ever benefit from Finster's great gifts? Alas, no. He is in college to stay.

But even more tragic for mankind is the case of Clare de Loon. Clare, a classmate of Finster's, had no talent, no gifts, no brains, no personality. All she had was a knack for taking tests. She would cram like mad before a test, always get a perfect score, and then promptly forget everything she had learned. Naturally, she graduated with highest honors and degrees by the dozen, but the sad fact is that she left college no more educated and no more prepared to cope with the world than she was when she entered. Today, a broken woman, she crouches under my sofa.

© 1965, Max Shulman

Speaking of tests, we, the makers of Personna®, put our blades through an impressive number before we send them to market. We also make—and thoroughly test—an aerosol shave that soaks rings around any other lather: Burma Shave®, regular and menthol.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

The lead letter in the Cowl's "Letters to the Editor" column of 10 February 1965 began with the question, "What has happened to courage in journalism?" I would like to refine that question slightly and ask the editors of our student newspaper "What has happened to journalism?"

The mere recording of past events or reporting of future events on a campus of our size is, in my opinion, only half of the student paper's journalistic responsibility. Journalism's second, and I think more important responsibility is this: to feed its public more than the pabulum of factual reporting of events—to offer its public the meat of controversy, conjecture and most of all opinion. Journalism must inform, but it must also stimulate and challenge or else its value goes little beyond that of WICE's "Public Service Bulletin Board." Contrary to the sentiments of some, Providence College does have an intellectual climate and a social conscience, and it is the duty of the campus newspaper as the primary organ of communication to bring these out and to cultivate them.

The criticizing the Cowl's failure to stimulate its readers, I do not discount the good job which it usually does in keeping the P.C. community informed of campus activity. Articles such as the "Intimations on the Berlin Wall," written by a junior exchange student, are excellent examples of reporting which at least leaves the reader with something to think about. This is not to say that the Cowl must have correspondents in every corner of the world; but it does point out the essential quality which the Cowl's articles universally lack—the ability to stimulate thought.

In view of the above remarks I would like to offer three suggestions for action which I believe will inject a little more journalism into our only student paper:

1. In reporting various student activities, accent some insight into truly worthwhile student activities.
2. Become a little less provincial in news-gathering practices. Granted, that the Cowl is a student production written by and for students. Yet we do exist within an environment greater than Providence College, an environment which the publication of intellectual college students might probe once in a while.
3. Make editorial comments which propose one point of view instead of two or both. The Cowl must begin taking one side in a discussion instead of both. Also, editorial comments should look once in a while beyond Mr. Murphy, the Dean of Discipline, and Raymond Hall parking lot.

The Cowl must recognize its duty as an organ of communication of not only facts but also of ideas and opinions, particularly those of the editorial board. Until the Cowl sees its shortcomings and more importantly acts to overcome them, it will remain a student bulletin board instead of being a student journal.

Robert A. Hutson '67

Letter to the Editor:

At 11:30 A.M. on Friday, April 30, two Providence College students were observed riding in a car near the corner of North Main Street and Branch Avenue. The passenger in the car was seen to ceremoniously heave a coffee cup onto the highway. This incident, as slight as it may seem, was reported to me by a deputy sheriff. This gentleman was shocked at the carelessness of the student and at his unconcern for the cleanliness of the city streets. Let's face it, Providence is not the cleanest city in the country, but do we have to make it any worse? The passenger's action may have also resulted in an accident which could have had serious consequences.

I realize that this is not the attitude of the majority of Providence College students but the actions of a few could impair our reputation as Providence College gentlemen. I speak now to those few when I say "Grow up and act like gentlemen."

Sincerely,
Paul J. McDewitt '67

Political Union Formed

By ROBERT NEJAKO

An organizational meeting of the Providence College Political Union was held last night in Aquinas Hall Lounge. The Political Union, modeled after that of Yale University, is intended to serve as a non-partisan student forum for parliamentary debate and to encourage other suitable means for the discussion of matters of public interest. The Union will also serve to represent its members to the Administration.

The Union was conceived before Easter by several members of the student body following reports of underground political activity by many students. Among those involved in the conception of the Union were students allied with or partial to such groups as the Young Republicans, the Young Americans for Freedom, the Students for a Democratic Society, the Young Democrats, etc. As foreseen by these men, the Union will serve as an "umbrella organization" comprised of several autonomous caucuses. These caucuses will be allowed to ally themselves with off-campus political organizations, whereas the Union itself will not be allowed to do this.

Membership in the Political Union will be open to all students enrolled in Providence College. While members of the Union do not have to align themselves with a certain caucus and thus retain the position of "independent," any group of members may form a caucus. In order to qualify as a caucus, there must be, according to the Constitution of the Political Union, no less than ten members in each caucus.

Quoting from the Constitution: "The caucuses of the Providence College Political Union shall be constituted solely as bodies within the Union, while retaining their autonomy and the right to affiliate with off-campus organizations."

On a broader scale, the Political Union shall have authority over the invitation of guest speakers, the choice of resolutions for debate and the calling of Union meetings. As an example, for the past several years, Yale has had such noted speakers as then-Senator Barry M. Goldwater, Dean Acheson, William F. Buckley, Jr., George Lincoln Rockwell, and several others. The Yale Political Union also sponsors frequent debates on controversial political issues.

At the end of last night's meeting, several caucuses were formed, but another meeting will be held to put these caucuses on an operational basis.

Valliere Places First In Speech Contest

Kenneth Valliere won first prize in the second annual Shakespeare Speech Contest, held Monday night in the Guild Room of Alumni Hall. Valliere delivered the famous dagger speech from Macbeth and received $25 for his efforts.

David Falvey, a junior, recited the court plea from Othello and won second place and $15. Richard Methia, a sophomore, won third place and a prize of $10.

Fr. Robert L. Walker, O.P., chairman of the English Department, along with Mr. Francis Hanley, and Mr. Paul Gallagher, both of the English Department, judged the contest and said that "judging was difficult and comparisons are odious but inevitable."

All of the speeches delivered were from Shakespeare's tragedies.

William Coleman, Thomas Darby, Charles Hadlock, and Richard Megleo also competed in the contest, which was attended by many students.

Chemist to Speak

Dr. Glenn A. Berchtold, Associate Professor at M.I.T., will speak on "The Cycloaddition Reactions of Enamines" on Monday, May 10, at 7:30.

The lecture, to be held in the auditorium of Albertus Magnus Hall, is one of the "Distinguished Lecturers in Science" series sponsored by the Honors Science Program.

Fr. Lennon Urges Office Formation

The Rev. Joseph L. Lennon, O.P., Dean of the College, has urged the establishment of an Office of Administrative Services in Higher Education within the Rhode Island Department of Education in a letter to Dr. William P. Robinson, Commissioner of Education.

Fr. Lennon urged the establishment of such an office in order that the State of Rhode Island receive greater benefit from the fourteen private and public institutions of higher learning that operate in the state.

It is Fr. Lennon's suggestion that not only will this office expedite administrative matters for the colleges and universities, but will also greatly aid cooperative efforts between schools. Fr. Lennon mentioned the possibility of a central computer center for both administrative use and for scientific research.

An Office of Administrative Services could clear the way for greater cooperation among the colleges and universities that would "foster . . . an attitude that favors research, experimentation, and innovation."

A message of importance to sophomore men

If you've got what it takes to be an Army Officer, you may qualify for this new on-campus training program

A new Army ROTC program starts this coming Summer for sophomore men who apply prior to May 1—only 3,000 applicants to be accepted

If you're a sophomore now attending one of the 247 colleges and universities that offer Army Officer training—or you plan to transfer to one of these schools next Fall—you may qualify for the new two-year Army ROTC program.

This new program—designed especially for college men who have not taken Army ROTC during their first two years—will commence with six weeks of field training this coming Summer, beginning June 14. Then you'll have on-campus training during your junior year . . . six additional weeks at camp during the following Summer . . . and more on-campus training during your senior year. Even flight training is offered at some schools.

ROTC training is really a process of learning to organize and direct others—to be a leader. Consider how important this ability can be to you throughout life; yet, to acquire it you will spend relatively little time in the ROTC classroom. You'll obtain valuable junior management experience . . . a fuller and richer campus life . . . extra spending money ($40 per month during your junior and senior school years, and even more during Summer training) . . . and, when you graduate, an Army Officer's commission as Second Lieutenant. Then you'll normally spend two interesting years on active duty, often abroad with opportunities for travel.

Talk to the Professor of Military Science on your campus about this opportunity. Ask him to describe this new short program in detail.

Or send in the coupon below for complete information. There's no obligation involved, and you'll not be subjected to any "hard sell" recruiting effort. The kind of men the Army wants can decide for themselves if this new opportunity is right for them.

If you're good enough to be an Army Officer, don't settle for less. Sign up now for Army ROTC.

"MASTERFULLY WRITTEN PROFESSOR SNARF—IT'S SELDOM MY PLEASURE TO SEE A TEST WITH SO MANY AMBIGUOUS QUESTIONS."

Dr. Thomson Named Vice-President

Dr. Paul van K. Thomson, recently appointed a vice president of the College, disclosed yesterday he will continue teaching next year.

"I think anyone in charge of academic affairs and policy ought to be in touch with the classes," he said.

Last week the Very Rev. Robert L. Every, O.P., Dominican provincial and president of Providence College Corporation, disclosed that Dr. Thomson would assume the duties of vice president in charge of academic affairs starting July 1.

The first layman to serve as vice president, his office will coordinate the academic programs, review departmental activities, make most faculty personnel decisions through the departments, and act as liaison officer between the administration and faculty and between lay and religious members.

The pipe smoking veteran four years may fail to see, and predicted greater progress in the future.

The vice president-elect is director of the Liberal Arts Honors program which he developed along with the six semester survey of English for students majoring in that field. He is also professor of English.

The Very Rev. Vincent C. Dore, O.P., President of the College, said he is "very pleased to see we are recognizing a dedicated member of the faculty and taking a lead in the updating of the Catholic College educational process by giving greater recognition to the laymen on our faculty and an appointment to a top post on the College administration."

Dr. Thomson received a Master of Sacred Theology degree from the General Theological Seminary, N. Y., and served as an Episcopalian chaplain during the war, and later as a deacon in Providence. A convert to Catholicism, he joined the College faculty in 1949. He later earned Masters of Art and Ph.D. degrees in English from Brown University.

The author of "Why I Am A Catholic" and "Francis Thompson, A Critical Biography," he is currently writing the life of G. K. Chesterton. He is an editorial writer for the Providence Visitor, a member of diocesan school board, and a lecturer of English at Salve Regina College.

professor of 16 years said he hopes to continue teaching undergraduate English 407-408, participate on the Colloquium in World Civilization, and lecture a graduate English course as well.

A member of the educational direction sub-committee of the academic planning committee, Dr. Thomson said the academic picture will brighten next year and in years to come. But he could make no specific statement of future changes since the sub-committee's final recommendations are still forthcoming.

Reviewing his 16 years on the faculty, Dr. Thomson said the College has experienced "steady growth" which students in their

Drill Meet

The PC ROTC Drill Team will compete in the 12th Annual Rhode Island ROTC Drill Competition to be held tomorrow evening at 8 p.m. in the Cranston Street Armory on Cranston Street in Providence.

The PC Team will compete against the Brown University Naval ROTC Team and the University of Rhode Island Army ROTC Team for the Rhode Island Adjutant General's Trophy.

PC has already retired one of these trophies, having won the competition the last three years.

The event is open to the public and there is no admission.

IRC's Plans Announced by New President Joe Hadley

The International Relations Club has elected Joe Hadley as president for the 1965-66 academic year. Jerry Lord was elected vice-president; Mike Flood, secretary; and Jim McKenna, treasurer.

At the first meeting of the new executive board, club dues for the coming year were reduced to $3 per year and constitutional changes were discussed. Proposed amendments will be voted on at the next general meeting later this month.

Methods for increasing membership and activities were also discussed at the executive meeting.

It is hoped that the Club will be able to participate in more conferences and seminars next year. According to Hadley, plans are now being formulated to send two delegates to the 1966 National Model General Assembly at the United Nations in New York next March. At this year's assembly, Mr. Hadley was elected to NMGA office.

It is expected that the Club will send 15 members to the four-day conference.

The speakers program was discussed at the executive meeting and Mr. Hadley hopes that the Club will be able to bring "big name" speakers to PC.

Prominent Speaker Awarded PC Medal

The Veritas Medal, the highest honor bestowed by Providence College, will be presented to the Honorable John W. McCormack, Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, Saturday, May 8, in Washington, D. C.

The Very Rev. Vincent C. Dore, O.P., president of Providence College, will award the medallion to Speaker McCormack at a special noon ceremony in the House Speaker's Room in the Capitol Building.

It will be but the second time that the Veritas Medal, presented for outstanding devotion to Providence College, has been awarded. Congressman John E. Fogarty of Rhode Island received the first Veritas Medal on November 15, 1960 from the late Very Rev. Robert J. Slavin, O.P., then president of the College.

The award marks the second time that Providence College has honored the Massachusetts' Congressman. He was awarded an Honorary Doctor of Laws Degree at the 34th Commencement Exercises of the College in June, 1952.

Cap and Gown Day

The 47th Annual Cap and Gown Day exercises will be held on Friday, May 7, beginning at 9 a.m.

There will be an academic procession into Harkins Hall auditorium. Fr. William C. Dettling, O.P., moderator of the Senior Class, will celebrate Mass.

Following the Mass, Jeff Delaney, President of the Class, will be personally invested by Fr. Dore.

Father F. M. Jelly Elected President Of DEA 'till 1967

The Rev. Frederick M. Jelly, O.P., Professor of Theology at Providence College, has been elected President of the Dominican Educational Association for two terms.

Father Jelly, vice-president of DEA since 1963, was elected at the association's recent national convention in New York City, attended by more than 1,000 representatives. His term in office will last through 1967.

Under Father Jelly's leadership, DEA plans to consider the educational formation of Dominican educators, the role of Dominican education in relation to the general aims of the National Catholic Education Association, and to promote the spirit of mutual cooperation among Dominican educators in the United States.

A native of Jersey City, N. J., Father Jelly has been on the Providence College Faculty since 1957. He is a member of the Commission on Ecumenism in the Diocese of Providence and is a frequent lecturer and writer on Ecumenism.

Cowl Staff . . .

He plans to teach in his home state. Smith is a political science major interested in public administration. A resident of New Haven, Conn., he will begin his second year as a member of The Cowl.

Gerald McClure, a sophomore, is the news editor. He is studying economics and is interested in a business career. He hails from Cranston, R. I., and has been a member of the staff since his freshman year.

Robert Roy, a freshman from Woonsocket, R. I., will act as assistant news editor. He is a student in the English education department who is undecided between careers in journalism and teaching.

Thomas Lieslang is the assistant sports editor. He is a resident of Huntington, Long Island, N. Y., and a pre-medical student in the College's biology division.

Blender will be assisted on the editorial board by Ulisse, Driscoll, Nejako, and Marottoli.

ROTC Drill Meet Tomorrow

The College's ROTC Drill Team, under the capable supervision of Sgt. George O. Maloney, will be defending champions at a Drill Meet to be held at the Cranston Street Armory at 8 p.m. tomorrow night.

Other participants in the annual drill meet will be the Naval ROTC Drill Team from Brown University and the Army ROTC Drill Team from the University of Rhode Island. The meet is open to the public and members of the student body are invited to attend.

The PC Drill Team placed fourth out of eighteen schools in a Drill Meet held last Saturday at the Commonwealth Armory in Boston.

More than one thousand friends and relatives of students of the College witnessed a display presented by the Drill Team prior to the Final Review held last Sunday.

Scholarships Given To Three Cadets By ROTC Dept.

Thomas R. Cuff, Jr., Kenneth A. Gonzales, and Paul A. Pelletier will be awarded Reserve Officers Training Corps Scholarships, it was announced recently by the Military Science Department.

As recipients of this scholarship, the three students, all sophomores at the College, will receive $50 a month plus tuition, textbooks and laboratory fees from the time the scholarship begins until graduation, with the exception of the six-week summer camp period during which time they will be paid at a rate of $120.60 per month plus transportation.

Members of the 535-man ROTC Cadet Brigade, they will be required to serve four years on active duty following their commissioning.

The scholarships are provided by the College Reserve Officers Training Corps Scholarship Program, recently initiated by the Department of the Army. The program will begin in September.

Scholarships Available From Chain Foundation

The Chain Foundation has announced that it has scholarships available to seniors who are in need of funds to finish their education. A senior in need may borrow up to $1,000 if he plans to go to work immediately after graduation.

Chain scholarships are awarded on the basis of financial need to students whose grades are currently at the passing level. The Foundation believes that the future lies with the average student as well as with the gifted one.

The unique feature of Chain Scholarships is the student's acceptance of a moral, not legal, obligation to "give a helping hand" to other needy students, after he graduates, by contributing to the Chain Foundation. In this way each recipient helps to forge a "chain" of ever-widening financial aid to an ever-increasing number of students.

In order to keep this "chain" moving, scholarships are presently awarded only for the student's senior year of college, and only to students who plan to work after receiving their Bachelors degree. Graduate students are not eligible.

To apply for a Chain Scholarship, you may obtain an application blank from your financial aid office, or write requesting an application to: The Chain Foundation, Box 550, White Plains, New York. A letter stating that you understand the "Chain" principle, and your interest in participating in it, a transcript of your scholastic record and a letter of recommendation from your college should accompany your application.

Prospects Good As Frosh Shine In Diamond Tilts

Frosh fledglings under Coach Vin Cuddy are expecting a highly successful season. A good defense featured by an excellent double play combination of Steve Saradnik and Bill Pettingell, and a strong offense led by Dennis Cargill, Tom Mullen, and Joe O'Sullivan will be the keys to the young Friars' success this season.

Despite a good effort by the frosh against Holy Cross at Hendricken Field last Saturday, they ended up on the short side of a 5-2 score. Bob Butler was the losing pitcher after coming on in relief of John McIntyre in the fourth inning. The Friar runs were both scored in the bottom of the first on a double to right by first baseman Dennis Cargill.

In their season opener at Hendricken Field last Wednesday, the Friars defeated the Quonset Flyers by a score of 3-2.

Backed by a good defense that got him out of a jam in the ninth inning with a game-ending double play, Ron Ham went the route for the Friars in his first start of the season. He gave up only four safeties, and was never really in trouble until Quonset's last inning bid to stave off defeat.

Bill Pettingell led the frosh attack with a four for four performance at the plate, while Jack Doyle's single to drive in a run in the bottom of the eighth provided Ham with his margin of victory.

on a medal basis, so it is both a team match and an individual match. Coach Prisco hopes for a big performance from his golfers.

The varsity team this year consists of three seniors, Pat Dipadua, Mike Reavey, and Bruce Gilmore; two juniors, Dave Greatbanks and Jim Monahagn, and two sophomores, Craig Galipeau and Jack Guiragos. The three alternates are seniors Mike Kelly and Danny Sheehan, and junior Ray Kelly.

SPORTSDESK

By Vin Marottoli

After the loss to Boston College in the second game of the season, one of the players commented that "we're not a bad team. We're just rusty." Without a doubt, his statement captured the very crux of the problem which caused such a dismal start for the Friars.

With only a series of intra-squad scrimmages behind them, the PC nine took on a team fresh from a muscle-flexing tour of the South. It was no wonder that they came out on the wrong end of a score. And in was zap again in their next fray. They just could not jell.

It took a heck of a lot more sweating and practicing before they could coagulate. And then the results started to show. PC is, as the player believed, a good team—and its potential really has not been tapped clean.

But why did such a team, which has the makings to become one of PC's best in recent years, have to go about it the hard way? Coach Alex Nahigian was humble enough to assume part of the blame for not scheduling any practice tilts with other teams. Of course, we all know that a Southern trip is out of the question for our Friars. Yet if competition was what they needed, I am sure that any of the players would have settled for any Southern trip—even to Kingston.

Yet it would be unjust to censure anyone without considering some facts. For instance, the Easter vacation came at a time when most teams had already started their seasons. And since PC plays most New England teams, local practice games are difficult to schedule anyway. And believe it or not, the Friars have had, and will have next year, games which you could consider pre-season. Plans are to repeat last year's encounter with Fairleigh Dickinson, Seton Hall and Fairfield, which will not be counted in the NCAA statistics.

But irregardless, I get the feeling the team is not receiving the treatment it should—at least similar to its heyday when baseball was the sport on campus. Maybe times have outdated baseball on Smith Hill.

I hope not. PC's tradition is rich with baseball history. Men such as Birdie Tebbitts, Lefty Collins, Eddie Wineapple—to mention a few—have brought honor to PC. And what alumnus could ever forget the immortal PC-Brown Hall of Fame Game played in 1924? It is the longest game (20 innings) to be played in baseball history in which only one run was scored.

Maybe the new stands are an indication of the school's willingness not to rest on past laurels, but to strengthen its prospects for the future. I hope so. I hope college authorities, as well as students, will always be willing to lend its support to the team to help it maintain its tradition.

FRIAR FINDINGS: Congratulations are due to Dick Berman, outgoing Sports Editor, and his staff, for the high score they received in the Associated Collegiate Press' annual rating. Overall, the Sports page was rated excellent and very good in the layout and coverage classifications . . . If anyone at the college was somewhat wary about picking up splinters while watching the baseball tilts, banish the thought! Why not come down next game and try out the new stands? . . . The Boston Morning Globe recently complimented the Cowl Sport Staff for "lifting the all-opponents team out of the so-called class by giving a plaque to the MVP on the all-opponent hockey team."

Juniors Grab Honors At First Field Day

Coach Hanlon take note! There are many fine tracksters at P.C. that aren't on your track squad. This was evidenced as the First Annual Track and Field Day was held at Hendricken and Coates Memorial Fields on Saturday afternoon. Under the capable direction of chairman Dal Lamagna and his assistants, Joe Brum, Bud Dobbins and Dennis Fazekas, the meet was a huge success. The class of '68 hopes that it has established a precedent for years to come.

After the puffing and grunting had subsided, the class of '66 had amassed a team high total of fifty-one points. Next came the freshman with forty, followed by the seniors and the sophomores with thirty-six and eight points respectively. Individual stars of the day were big Mike Paine, a senior, who swept firsts in the football punt and throw, junior Ken Johnson who won the standing broad jump and the 220 yard dash, freshman John Warbicki who raced to victories in the 100 and the 60 yard dashes, and Tob Kramer, who won the shot put (40' 41") and soft ball throw, 348'.

Approximately 150 students participated in the fifteen events and 45 received trophies. The trophies which were donated by the Student Congress were given the first three winners in each event. The events went as follows: shot put, Tom Kramer, Joy Welch, Mike Paine, distance 40'4"; high jump, Tom Grady, Bob Meyers, Jim Bradley, height 5'8"; standing broad jump, Ken Johnson, Tom O'Grady, Bob Meyers, distance 9'10"; football throw, Mike Paine, Dick Vercauteren, James O'Neill, distance 74 yds.; football punt, Mike Paine, Larry Landgraff, Pete Duffy, distance 58 yds.; basketball free throws, Jack Cullen, James O'Neill, Bob Ganong, 25/30; soft ball accuracy throw, Buzz Lagos, Dennis Hickey, Ed Silva, 7/9; soft ball distance throw, Tom Kramer, Pete Duffy, Larry Kane, distance 118 yds.; 2 mile run, Brad Johnson, Buzz Lagos, Mike McCarthy, 10:24 mile run, Paul Foster, Mike McCarthy, Bill Hancock, 5:09; 880, Dave Kelly, Pete Coughter, Brad Johnson, 2:10; 440, Zoomar Williams, Buzz Lagos, Tom O'Grady, 55.4; 220, Ken Johnson, John Werbicki, Dennis Campagnone, 25 secs.; 100, John Werbicki, Bob Meyers, Paul Cappola, 10.8 secs.; 60 yard dash, John Werbicki, Larry Kane, Jim Bradley, 6.8 secs.

Friar Nine Sets U B Ablaze, 10-5; Face 'The Cross' Tomorrow At Home

Vengeance will be the topic of the day as the Friars once again entertain the Crusaders from Holy Cross in a contest slated for tomorrow afternoon at Hendricken Field. Still smarting from their frustrating loss to the Cross last weekend, the Friar nine will be out to even the score against their arch rival.

HC will be facing a team that bombed the Bridgeport Knights yesterday, 10-5, upping their record to 5-4. Behind the excellent pitching of Hank Karlson, who went the distance for PC, the Friars had a field day at the plate. Jack Connolly and Leo McNamara both homered, while Jim Petteruti went three for three.

In the four run second inning, Connolly led off with his in-field left center slam, with none on. With one out, Don Reuter singled and scored on Petteruti's single. Jim moved to second on an error in an attempted pick-off. McNamara's single scored both Jim and John O'Rourke, who had dropped one in at center field.

Bridgeport threatened in the ninth when, with bases loaded, they had scored three runs. But some fine infield playing erased any threat.

In a brilliant and dramatic come-from-behind victory, the Friars edged URI, 5-4, Monday at Hendricken. They had to score four runs in the bottom of the ninth to take it. Archie Archambault led off the inning with a walk, Fran Connolly singled to right and Don Pastine sacrificed, scoring Archambault. After Don Reuter singled, Jim Petteruti lined to right, setting up the dramatic climax. Coming in to pinch hit for O'Rourke with two out, Fred Sullivan waited until a 3-2 count to send a Nick Stenhouse pitch over the right center field fence to score three runs and win the game. Joe Twomey won it in relief of Jimmy Jones, striking out two of the three men he faced.

The Friars jumped off to a quick 6-0 lead against Holy Cross, but lost it and the game in the 11th inning, 11-10. The Crusaders were trailing 10-6 going into the last of the ninth, but five hits and a PC error enabled them to tie up the game.

Joe Armstrong topped a slow roller down the first base line with the bases loaded to give HC the winning run. Hank Karlson, the fourth Friar pitcher, took the loss. Pastine led the attack for Coach Nahigian's men with three hits and three RBIs.

Noel Kinski continued on his winning ways on the mound as he hurled the Friars past BC, breaking a second inning tie. Jones was the losing pitcher for the Friars, while McNamara collected two of the four hits.

Southpaw Kinski pitched a brilliant no-hitter against Assumption, winning 17-0 and facing only 28 opponents. A base on balls was all that spoiled a perfect game. McNamara again came through at the plate, as he went two for two, while Bellemore and Pastine had four hits apiece.

PC's first victory came at the expense of Amherst in a 6-2 win.

HAPPY FRIAR: He made it safely to third during the thrilling Ram tilt Monday.

8-2. PC never relinquished the lead once they were ahead in the second. Successive singles by Reuter and Petteruti set the stage for O'Rourke's triple to center.

After McNamara walked, Archambault doubled in two more runs. The final run of the big inning gave the Friars a strong 6-1 point advantage.

The Friars knocked off Boston University, 6-2, last Thursday at home behind the four hit pitching of Karlson. Connolly and Petteruti each had two hits in the winning cause.

BU was a refresher after the 6-2 loss to Northeastern up at Brookline. Holding PC to four hits, the Mass. nine went ahead for good in the third inning, Soph Kevin Connolly pitched a neat four hitter, and was backed up by a three-run first inning for the Friars. Pastine led PC with two hits.

In their first encounter with the BC Eagles, PC dropped a 5-3 decision. Although they jumped off to a quick 2-0 lead, 12 men were left stranded on base. Jones was the loser while Bellemore and Archambault paced the Friar attack with two hits apiece.

In the season opener, the Friars were dumped 15-1 by a strong Colby which had just returned from a southern trip. Although they collected eight hits, PC could only convert one run. Colby had an easy time amassing 11 hits and 16 walks.

Late Start Impedes Tennis Performance

Once again the tennis courts behind Alumni Hall are filled with the racketmen of the Friar tennis team. Beginning formal practice after Easter vacation, Coach Dave Gavitt's team had only two days to prepare for the first match of the season against The Coast Guard Academy last Wednesday. Despite the limited practice time, the team was victorious by the score of 5-4. This fine start, however, was followed by a match with Brown University, one of the best teams in the East, which the squad lost, 8-1. This defeat was followed by two others, the first at the hands of the University of Rhode Island by the score of 7-2, the other to an impressive Holy Cross team, 8-1.

This year's team is captained by Terry Lapoutre, who plays first singles. The rest of the team is comprised of two other seniors, John Norton and Harry Coffey; two juniors, Key Phelan and Bill Watterson; and three sophs, Brian McMahon, Emil Martineau and Rich Miller.

The team looks forward to six more matches this year, the most important of these being against Tufts, Stonehill and Fairfield, all next week. All the team members are confident that the remainder of the season will see a big improvement in their 1-3 record.

Golf Team to Aim For Double Sweep

P.C.'s varsity golf team opened its season last Tuesday, April 27, with a dual match against cross-town rival Brown and the University of Rhode Island. The Friar golfers defeated Brown, 6-1, but lost a hard-luck match to URI, 4-3, when Roger Bedard downed sophomore Jack Guiragos 1 up on the 20th hole. Bruce Morin of URI was the pacesetter in the match with a two-over par 73. Dave Greatbanks, Mike Reavey, and Guiragos all shot 75's for the Friars.

Since the loss to URI, the Friars have won three straight. Later in the week they defeated Merrimack 5-2. Pat Dipadua, Reavey, Greatbanks, Guiragos, and Craig Galipeau paced the victory. In another dual match, they scored a double win over St. Anselm's, 6-1, and Lowell Tech, 5-2.

Tuesday the Friars travelled to Springfield to take on Springfield College and Tufts University. Following Tuesday's match they will play a home contest Thursday against Holy Cross and Stonehill College, at the Pawtucket Country Club. On Friday, May 7, they will play a single match at Nichols College.

Coach Joseph Prisco is confident of a fine season. He is especially looking forward to the New England Collegiate Tournament at the Shennecosset Country Club in Groton, Connecticut, May 13 and 14. A five-man team will participate and the lowest four scores will qualify. The winner will be judged (Continued on Page 9)
